Case Study

An architectural firm hired MARKETLINK's design professionals to create a new identity package. This included logo design, tag line development, messaging, business cards, letterhead, kit cover, envelopes, letterhead, etc.

LINK TO SUCCESS: After MARKETLINK created initial design standards, representatives of the firm were able to take the design guidelines and apply them to creating the remaining marketing collateral in-house. This has given the firm tremendous flexibility to tailor proposal efforts to each specific client, while continuing to incorporate the established brand message throughout.

Client Quote

"Our identity package was very well received throughout the firm. □ It has been a refreshing update to our previous brand identity. □ We have been able to incorporate the design solutions in our day-to-day marketing efforts successfully."
